

Neopets & Dungeons

In anticipation for Geekify Inc's Neopets TTRPG, I created these racial stats for the various different neopet species along with all of the known faeries for D&D 5e. This is my first full-sized homebrew and fully realized pdf i've made.

All 55 neopet species are represented along with all known paintbrush colors, faerie types, and specialized colors. Lore is included with each entry, inspired by and involving official lore.

All images used in this project, excluding the ones made by me, are property of World of Neopets Inc. and are used purely as a fan creation.

This is great. My sisters and I used to love Neopets. We had the board game and the video games and the card game. I was thinking about getting the new card game, but I am waiting to hear what people have to say about it.

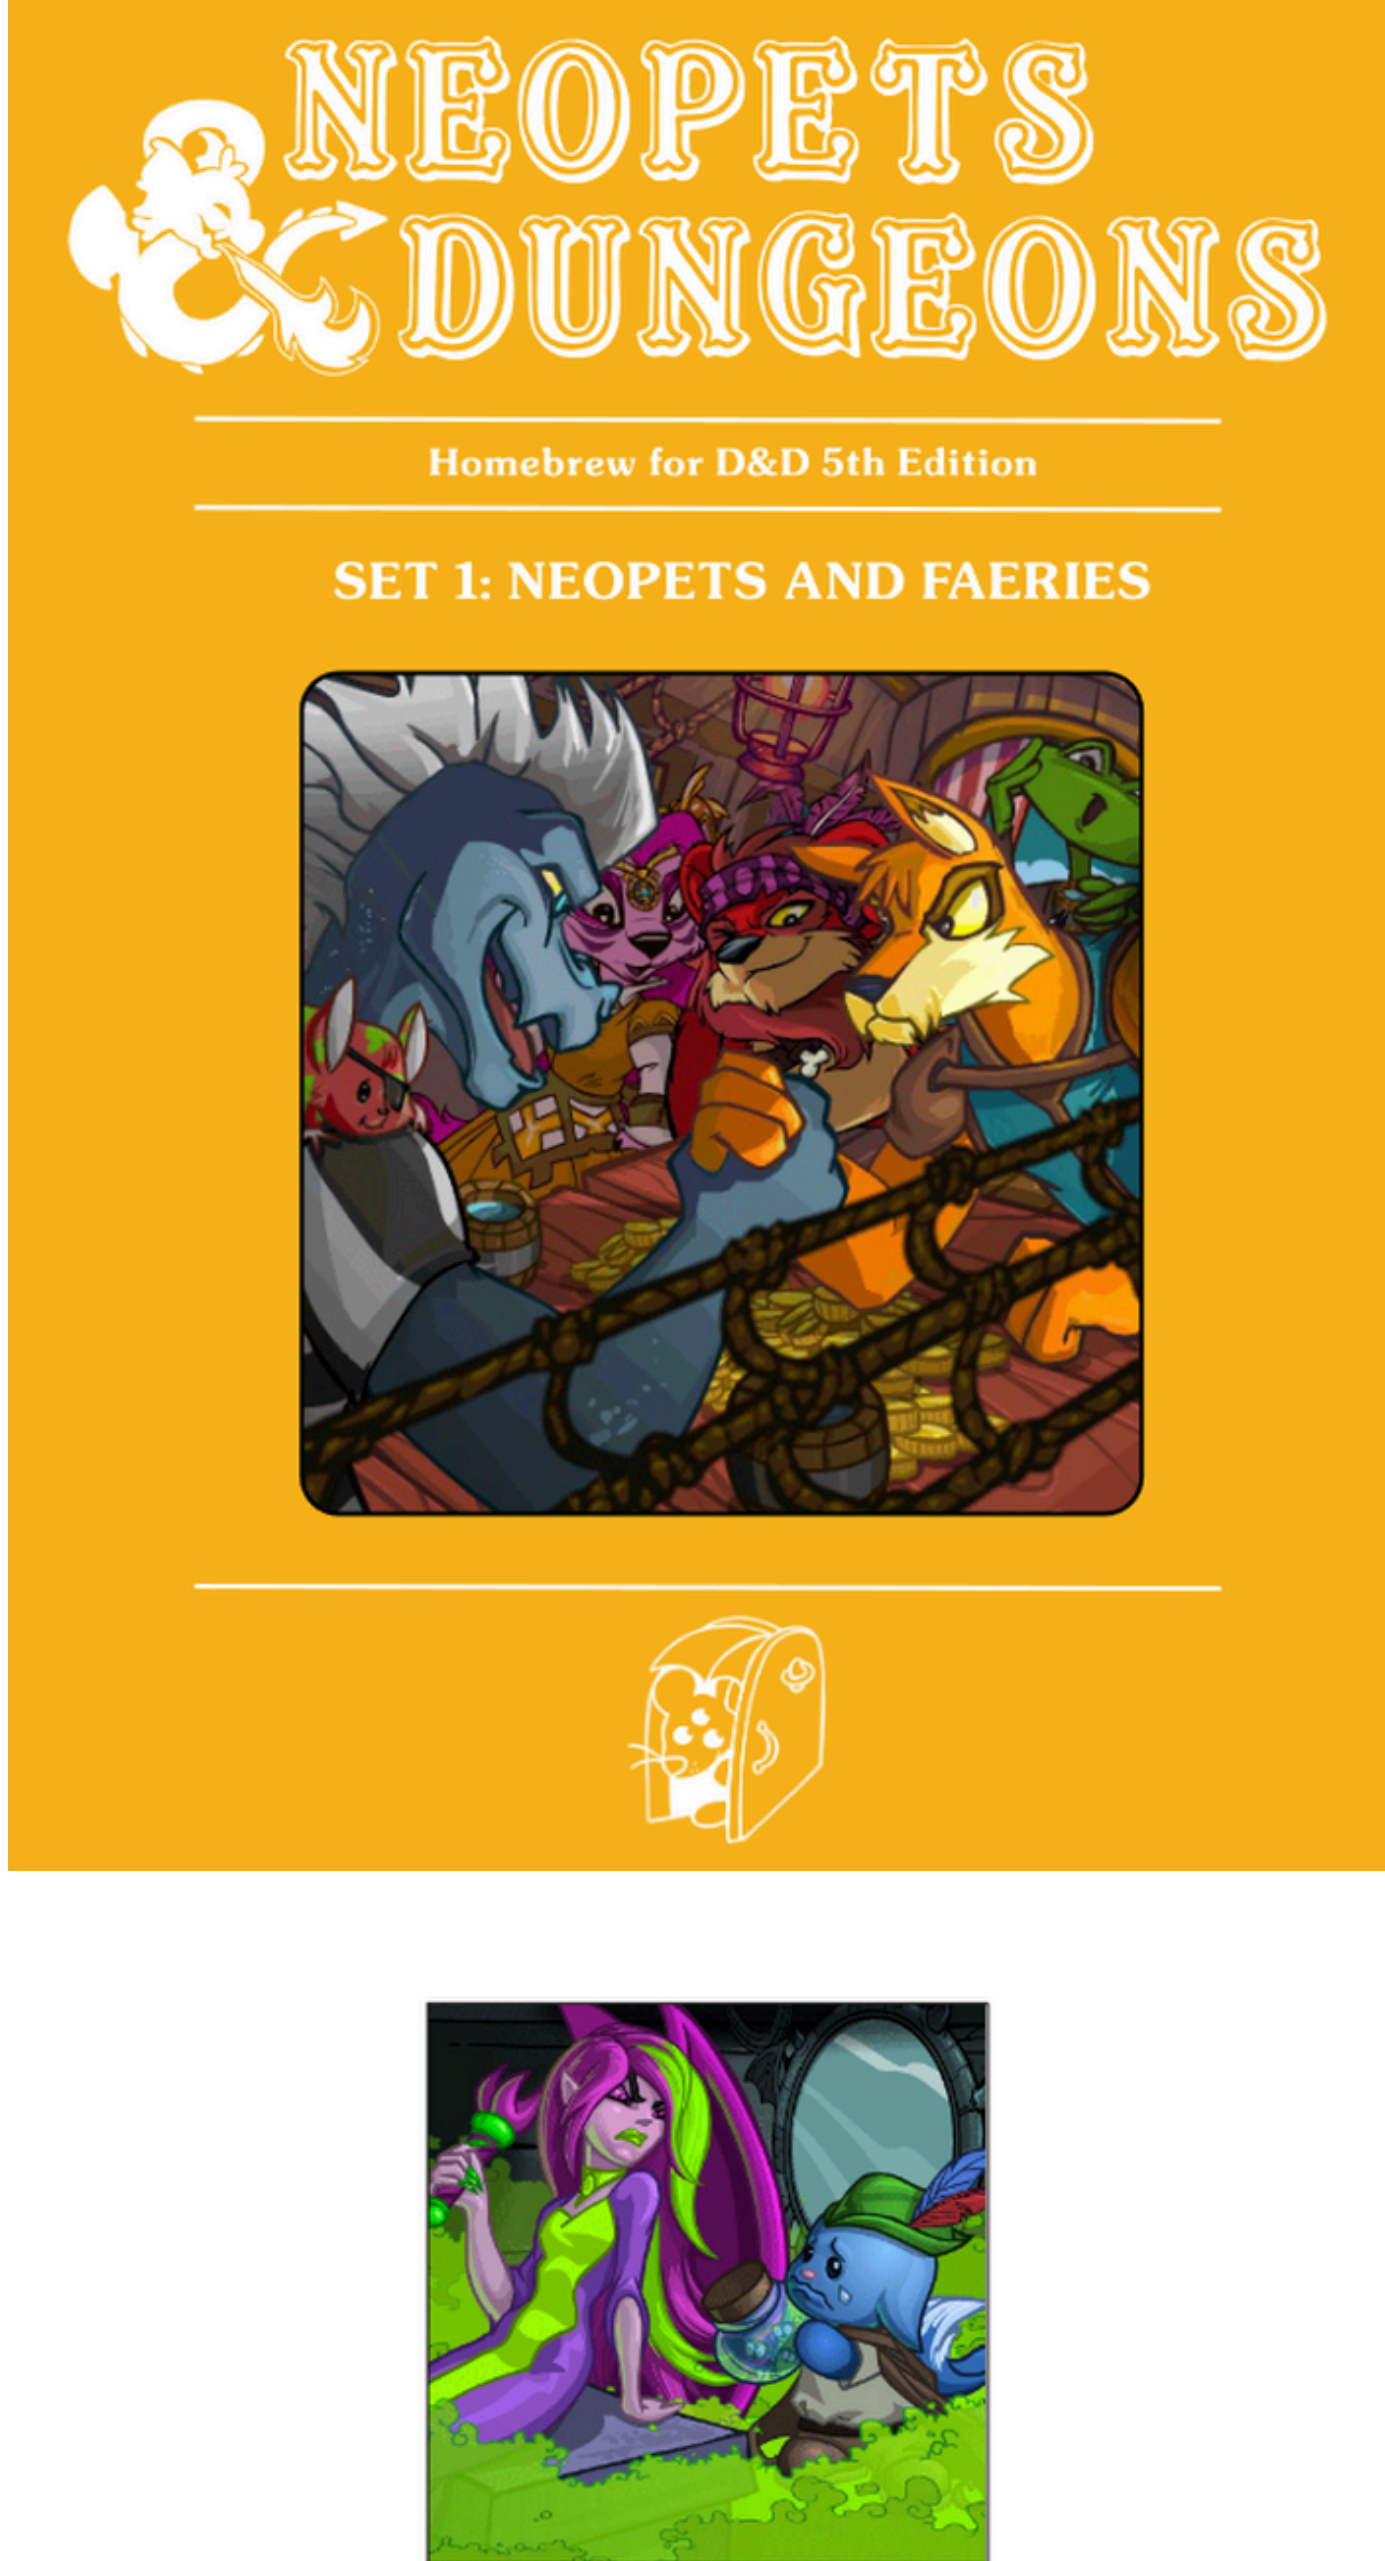

I made a TTRPG system (The Thirty Moons System) and you got me thinking it would be awesome to have a Neopets adventure for it. Right now it mostly has My Little Pony adventures. (Thirty moons is a measurement of time in MLP.) Would you like to collaborate on a Neopets adventure? Your knowledge passion and skill would be invaluable.

CHAPTER 1: RACES OF NEOPIA

In the world of Neopia, there are numerous species occupying every nook of the world. They are what makes Neopia and Neopets, and it is their diversity between them and the imagination that each of them creates that make Neopia so special. The range is so vast and so full of life that it is a human's hand to turning over the first stone to start their searching for everyone.

This chapter presents the 55 species of Neopets, their color variations, and the Faeries of Neopia. Each are illustrated in their own way and living in different parts of Neopia. Due to the sheer number of them, each Neopet has been condensed into a singular or a couple of pages and short summaries of what they are like. All of the lore is integrated from canon and non-canon information shared by the Neopets team.

The following traits are shared between all Neopets species, since they hold a common baseline between them compared to Faeries:

Age
Neopets reach adulthood and maturity roughly the same as humans, living naturally up to around a century. However, there's countless ways to extend your life in Neopia, making countless old neopets and immortals.

Abilities
Additionally, since Neopets are relatively mobile in every way, if you double your ability score increases but you can't take any of your scores above 30, your ability score increase with the following trait:
